Ardmore, Sunday, February 23, 1908.

Ardmore's church buildings are comfortably seated. The stranger is always welcome. Probably you are the stranger.

"When will Hunter resign?" has been catalogued with a few other trite questions such as "How old is Ann?" and "Why does a hen?"

Perhaps that gold found in the Culbertson was only some of the crooks who are catfished there by the state capital hoodlums of Pennsylvania.

The latest announced international marriage is declared to be a love match. Of course, she loves the title and he loves the American dollars.

Speaking of nature faking, why has the president failed to call attention to Frederick Remington's western cow ponies with purple tails?

Another reason why young people like to have the pastor dark is because the condition naturally leads to the subject of striking a match.

Somewhere, the color bearer of a red flag in this country is always a foreigner who has not yet declared his intentions to become naturalized.

Considerable early garden work is being done, the thrifty housewife has been waiting for the moon to come right and is now planting potatoes.

That growing treasury deficit, running between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000, monthly is causing the republican congress no little concern. A national campaign is on and treasury deficits are not good campaign material for the deficit-makers.

With all convention halls that have been "in" and the greatest rivalry as to which shall be the "convention city" of the new state, Waggoner has been overlooked, and now walks off with a convention of the and Jim Crow clubs. Still there has been no protest filed.

It is said that Beech Hargis, the Kentucky desperado who murdered his father, the seamy desperado, is to pay for the defense in court with his share of his father's estate. That is, the father's estate will be employed to keep the henip from the neck of the son who murdered him.

HEARST IN THE CAMPAIGN.

Yesterday the personally conducted independence league of William R. Hearst held a meeting in Chicago to determine what action it shall take in the present coming presidential campaign. What the league has to do will soon be known. Mr. Hearst himself, as a writer to his political organization, Charles A. Walsh, formerly secretary of the democratic national committee, has set forth a declaration of principles which hardly any democrat could take issue with. Following this he wrote a letter to Mr. John Temple Graves one of his employees, in which he set forth principles equally democratic. Notable in what is called the Hearst platform, nor in the letter to Graves, is there anything which would gratify upon the mind or offend the opinion of any democrat, unless it be his declaration for a ship subsidy bill. In declaring for this he seems to forget that before a ship subsidy should be granted the tool for the free raw materials for building ships should be made. Possibly people may laugh at Mr. Hearst's device of standing in the background and expressing his views in letters to his subordinates. But after all, it is not the method, but the views that are important. He has outlined so good a democratic platform that few people will believe he will fail to turn to the party most likely to give them effect.

FRED TUCKER THE WINNER

OF THE ORATORICAL CONTEST WITH MISS BEATRICE VON KELLER SECOND.

The honors of winning the first medal in the high school oratorical contest that is held each year by the students of the Ardmore high school fell to Fred Tucker, with second honors going to Miss Beatrice VonKeller, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred VonKeller.

Mr. Tucker spoke to the subject of "Andrew Jackson" and Miss VonKeller had as her subject, "Unknown Patriots." The opera house was filled to overflowing by the patrons of the school. The feature of the evening was the music rendered by the high school orchestra under the direction of Sol Lewenstein. The music was of the highest order and all classical selections.

The judges were out for quite a length of time and had it been with-in their power a medal would have been given to every one of the contestants. Those whose declamations and recitations are of special mention were Eugenia Nivoche, Ethel Lawson and Junior Murphy, pupils of the Ninth grade.

The program rendered was as follows:

Opening prayer—Rev. C. F. Tremble, Christian church.
High School Chorus—"Red, White and Blue."
Selection—High School orchestra.
Recitation—"Unknown Patriots."
Miss Beatrice VonKeller.
The Navy—Junior Murphy.
Music—High School orchestra.
Southern Peace Makers—Eugenia Nivoche.
Andrew Jackson—Fred Tucker.
Song—Mr. Vernon Bells—High School chorus.
The Old Flag—Miss Ethel Lawson.
Selection—High School orchestra.
During the times the judges were out deliberating John Hoffman sang solo, "The Veterans of '63."
Benediction—Rev. Wynn.

CAPT. KINKADE'S FUNERAL.

Comrades in Arms Laid the Soldier Away.

Capt. W. I. Kinkade, the father of Fred Kinkade, was quietly laid to rest to answer the long roll call on the great day by his comrades in arms, members of Chickasaw Post, G. A. R. The last sad rites of the post were paid to the comrade who had gone to that bourne from whence no traveler returns.

A sorrowing family and a host of friends assisted in laying the dead man to rest.

ABSTRACTERS INSTRUCTIONS

ISSUED BY SPECIAL ATTORNEY
J. B. MOORE FOR CHOCTAW
AND CHICKASAW NATIONS.

J. B. Moore, who was recently appointed special attorney by the state land board to investigate titles to land offered as security for loans from the state, has issued the following letter to abstractors to guide them in preparing abstracts, upon which Mr. Moore will have to pass before the loan can be secured:

To the Abstractors of the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nations.

The undersigned has been employed by the state land board to pass upon titles to all land upon which applications are made for loans from the state in the counties and parts of counties constituting what was formerly the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations.

After examining a number of abstracts prepared by different abstract companies in this section of the state many defects have appeared, and in order to expedite the work of passing on titles for loans by the state land board, the following suggestions are made which must be complied with by the abstract companies.

1. The abstract must set out the instrument affecting the title to the land so as to disclose fully its nature and the kind of estate attempted to be conveyed.

2. A description of all land affected by the instrument should be given and the consideration shown.

3. The acknowledgements of all instruments should be given in full, including the signature and seal of the officer taking the same and the date of the expiration of his commission.

4. If any action is pending against any grantor named in the abstract, other than an allottee, a digest of the complaint and cross-complaint, if any, should be given.

5. Under the law in force prior to statehood, (November 16, 1907) southern district and central district were treated as counties for all purposes, until recording districts were organized, and after recording districts were organized each recording district was treated as a county for the purpose of recording instruments; but a judgment rendered in any United States court in either of said districts was a lien upon the land of the defendant throughout the district, except in cases where the defendants were allottees. The judgment lien also attached to subsequently acquired land. Hence it will be necessary for the abstract to show that there are no unsatisfied judgments in any court in the district in which the land is situated, rendered before statehood, except as to allottees.

In case a judgment has been rendered against any grantor, it should be abstracted, giving date of rendition, amount and whether satisfied.

6. The abstract should show by affidavit whether the land has been occupied by any of the grantors, aside from the allottee, as a homestead, and if so, both spouses must join in the conveyance.

7. It will be necessary to show that the abstractor has complied with the law by filing his bond with the clerk of the county court in the sum of $5,000, with two or more good personal sureties, which bond has been approved by the board of county commissioners. The abstractor may either attach the certificate of the clerk of the county court to the abstract, certifying these facts in every instance, or send me a certificate, which will be sufficient to cover all abstracts.

Very respectfully,

J. B. MOORE,

Special Attorney State Land Department.

GORE AND BOLL WEEVIL

BLIND SENATOR WILL ASK FOR SPECIAL APPROPRIATION TO FIGHT PEST IN STATE.

Senator T. P. Gore will in a very few days introduce a bill in the senate for a special appropriation to aid the people of this section in the work of eradicating the boll weevil pest that is affecting the crops of eastern Oklahoma. The senator in a letter written to Secretary Spaulding of the Commercial Club seems to feel assured of securing its passage. The matter of securing more assistance for Mr. Bamberg has already been taken up by the senator and a communication passed between him and the head of the bureau that has the matter in hand of supervising the suppression of the boll weevil pest.

The following is a copy of the letter received by Mr. Spaulding on the subject from Mr. Gore:

"My dear sir and friend: Yours of late date just received. I recently had a letter from the head of the bureau having supervision over the boll weevil matter assuring me that he would do everything possible to assist in eradicating the evil in our part of the country. He was on the eve of leaving the city for North Carolina, and it is my purpose to see him as soon as I can. I shall introduce a bill asking a special appropriation to aid in the suppression of the weevil in the state of Oklahoma.

"I think that I will be able to secure its passage.

"Assuring you of my unremitting attention to this matter I beg to remain,

"Your friend truly,

"T. P. GORE."

LIQUOR RAIDS CONTINUE

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY SHERIFF'S FORCES KEPT BUSY HAULING WET GOOS.

Sheriff Akers and his deputies are making it warm for violators of the prohibition law in this city, and no stone is being left unturned to catch the parties violating the law, and keeping the traffic in beer and whisky down. Not a day passes but several raids are made by one or more of the deputies and a large quantity seized by the alert officials and placed in storage to await the orders of the court.

Friday afternoon the Whittington Hotel was raided and in a closet beneath the staircase forty-eight half pint flasks, and a half of a cask of beer were found and confiscated. Following that raid the residence of a man named Winans was visited and two barrels of beer and ten gallons of whisky was found. Besides these places other suspicious places were visited by Deputy Landrum and several small quantities found, all of which was placed in the storage room of the sheriff.

"We intend to keep up the work," said Sheriff Akers, "until we drive out the whisky peddlers. We do not want to be put in the light of being persecutors, but booze selling must stop."

The whisky that was found in the lobby of the Whittington is supposed to be the property of a joint keeper who rents part of the building.
